Cabinet Member Will Visit Middlesboro Over Week End

Dr. Hubert Work Was Practising Physician Twenty-five Years— Made Great Success as Postmaster General

DR. HUBERT WORK

DINNER TO BE GIVEN IN DISTINGUISHED VISITORS' HONOR

Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, Mrs. Work, Mr. and Mrs R. O. Matthews and Dr. J. Wesley Hill, all of Washington, will be in Middlesboro on the Southern train from Knoxville tonight. They are being entertained in Knoxville today. A dinner will be given for the party at the Cumberland tonight. They will stay here over the week-end as Dr. Work and Dr. Hill are both on the program for the L. M. U. commencement.

It is seldom that a member of the president's cabinet visits Middlesboro especially so distinguished a member as Dr. Work, and for this reason the city is anxious to do honor to him and the members of his party.

Dr. Work is a native of Pennsylvania and was educated at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan He was a physician in Pueblo, Colorado, for twenty-five years.

During the war Dr. Work was first commissioned a Major. His unusual ability with supervision of the medical features of the selective draft caused him to advance to the rank of a Colonel. In medicine Colonel Work showed not only distinguished personal ability but a marked gift for organization. He was long president of the Colorado State Medical Society, the Colorado State Board of Medical Examiners, The Colorado State Board of Health and the American Medico Pysehological Society. At the time of his nomination to the First Assistant Post Master General he was the incoming President of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Work was Chairman of the Colorado Republican National Committee and after the nomination fo President Harding he was given the task of organizing the farmers. This he did most effectively in forty states. At the resignation of Mr. Will Hays as Post Master General, Dr. Work was promoted to Postmaster General Since that appointment, his record has been one of accomplishment. He has managed his own special department to the general admiration and satisfaction of all those who know him. He has recently been appointed to the position of Secretary of the Interior.

A. P. Liebig, president of the Kiwanis Club, will preside at the dinner to be given at the Hotel Cumberland tonight and he will call on prominent local men for short addresses. A musical program is also being arranged and the grill room will be decorated with spring flowers. Reservations for ninety places have been made. No one who has not made reservations already will be expected to attend the dinner.

LARGE AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT ENJOYS "GREEN STOCKINGS"

"Green Stockings," senior play, was well received last night, the school auditorium being almost entirely filled at the rise of the curtain. Elizabeth Hurst, the leading lady, played the role of Celia Carraday exceptionally well.

The acting, the stage setting and the costumes rendered the play a very enjoyable amateur performance. The comedy was well brought out and the complication was sufficiently interesting to make it a good drama. Miss Winnie Pippin entertained the audience by singing between the acts

The seniors and the school personnel were well pleased with the results of the play and the reception it received and those who saw it enjoyed an evening of good entertainment.

BILLY SUNDAY SUFFERS FALL

Slightly Injured Last Night— Goes On With Service, Scoring Jockey Club

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, May 5— Rev. Billy Sunday today said he was not much hurt by an eight-foot fall through the trap door of his pulpit here last night He suffered a twisted ankle, a cut on the hand, and several bulses To show the audience he was not badly injured, he led in the singing and shook hands with one hundred and twenty-five converts. He digressed from the regular sermon to score the Kentucky Jockey Club "As long as against the wheel of fortune. That is what makes the Kentucky Jockey club rich. A bunch of boobs and suckers, they have you whipsawed every way with their take out"

C. W. RHODES ALMOST HAS SERIOUS ACCIDENT THURSDAY

C. W. Rhodes, engineer for the Log Mountain Coal company, narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday when the monitor which he was riding up to the Yellow Creek mines collided with a cow and was knocked off the track. Another monitor was coming down this track and it was only Mr. Rhodes' quick work in flashing signals for the other car stop and in throwing his car back onto its original track about three hundred feet further on that avoided a serious accident.

MISSING PRISONERS STILL AT LARGE

Preliminary Hearing Monday for Trio in Jail Here Suspected of Aiding Escape

Shell Brady, Thomas Dunn and Tom Hensley, trio suspected of assisting in the escape of Tip Long and Jim Herrell from the city jail here early yesterday morning, will have a preliminary hearing before County Judge J. S. Bingham at 9 o'clock Monday morning Neither of the parties have made any statements which have any bearing on their case since they were incarcerated in jail here at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Shell Brady who was also in the party which made the trip to Knoxville on the night of the trip was at the city hall this morning but she did not volunteer any information in regard to the case.

No traces of the missing prisoners have been found. It is the belief of the officers, however, that they did not go to Knoxville but left the automobile at some point over in Tennessee. They have strong hopes that the reward will eventually bring them, wherever they may be.

TO BLAST IN ROSE HILL OIL WELLS

Suspend Drilling Until Nitroglycerin Arrives—Expect to Open Rich Veins With It

ROSE HILL, Va., May 5.—Drilling in the oil well here was suspended Thursday after going 200 feet, to await a charge of nitroglycerin for which a long distance call had been given. This will be a forty-quart shot and will cost $1000.

It is expected that this shot will open veins of oil within 200 feet of it. The last several feet of drilling has been through sand which contains very rich deposits of oil

A number of interested people have been on the grounds this week, among them visitors from Texas, Pennsylvania, Alabama and many places in Kentucky.

WEDS GARDENER IS DISINHERITED

Daughter of J. H. Avery, Detroit Millionaire, Disowned by Parents After Marriage

DETROIT, May 5— Mrs John H. Avery, wife o fthe Detroit multimillionaire, today announced that his daughter, Florence, who married Francis Barrigrand, Avery's gardener would never inherit the Avery millions. "To us our daughter is dead forever" she said, "our daughter would not listen to us and she must pay the price of her folly." The marriage took place a week ago but did not become known until yesterday. The couple have gone east where they intend to buy a farm.

DR. JOHN HILL VISITS WITH DR. J. A. GRAY IN LEXINGTON

Dr. John L. Hill of Nashville, educational secretary of the Baptists of the South who will speak at both services at the First Baptist Church tomorrow, is the guest while in this city of his brother, T. R. Hill. Dr. Hill is well known here, having visited here a number of times before and having become acquainted with many people while was dean of Georgetown College

Dr. Hill arrived this morning from Lexington and he reports that yesterday he acted as judge of a debate at the University of Kentucky, in conjunction with Dr. J. A Gray, formerly of here Dr Hill says that Dr. Gray is very popular in Lexington and likes his new charge, but that he is convinced there is no place like Middlesboro. Dr. Gray also told Dr Hill that everyone in Central Kentucky looked to Middlesboro as Kentucky's coming town andr that he, personally, expected to see the day when 100,000 persons would live here.

PREDICT HEAVY LAKE SEASON

Coal for Northwest in Particular Demand—Big Mineral and Grain Market Foreseen

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., May 5.—Cleveland vessel men are predicting a big season in Great Lakes freight traffic this year. Business for several seasons has been spotty, but ore, coal and grain operators are regaining confidence as the approach of navigation opens.

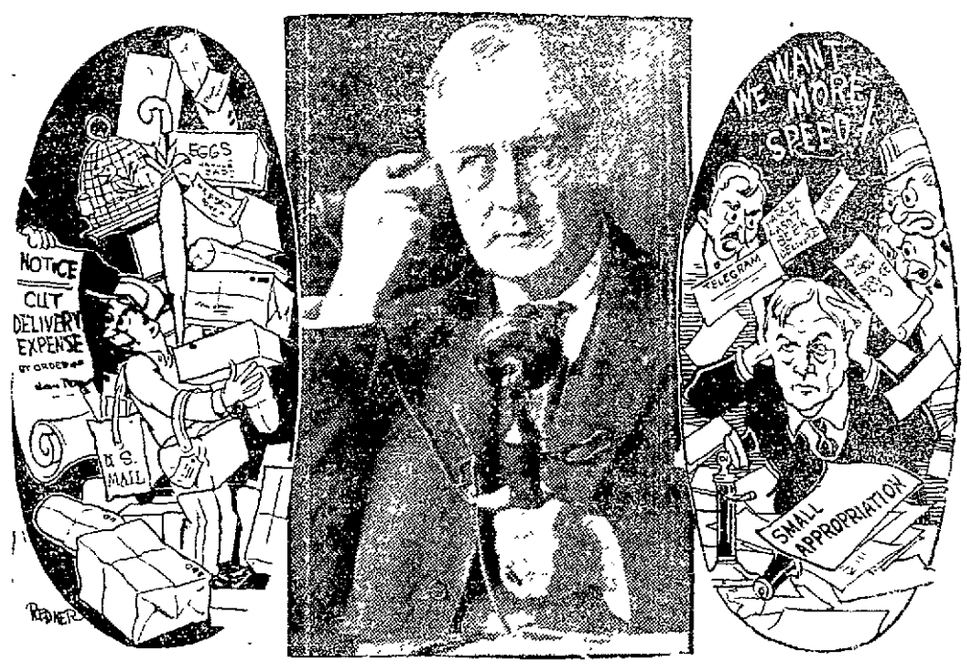
Coal for the northwest will be in demand since the docks in the upper lakes will not have their usual accumulation. Two million tons of coal were on the docks in the northwest when navigation opened last year Very little, if any, will be left this year.

Movement of iron ore predicted for the present season is about 55,000,000 tons, compared with 42,500,000 tons last season Iron ore is being consumed rather rapidly at the furnaces, and stocks on the docks will be lower than at the opening of navigation last year

Grain shipments depend on crop and market conditions If they hold up to the figures of the last two seasons, the total movement of bulk freight on the Great Lakes for the 1923 season is expected to be more than 100,000,000 tons, compared with 89,454,848 tons in 1922 and 68,033,575 tons in 1921.

The record ore movement was in 1916, when 65,000,000 tons were brought down. The lowest movement in recent years was in 1921, when only 22,000,000 tons were moved.

TOO MUCH BUSINESS IRKS NEW, POSTAL HEAD



HARRY S NEW

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Too much business!

That's what's troubling Harry S. New, postmaster general, at the end of his first month as head of Uncle Sam's postal service

New, it is unofficially reported here is considering violating the law in order to maintain deliveries and to prevent a demoralizing breakdown in postal service.

The "violation" will consist in shifting certain appropriations for maintenance of the service which are rigidly fixed by law—by law which New, as a senator, supported.

New is reported to have conferred with President Harding with regard to taking this action.

With the volume of mail matter increasing at an unprecedented rate, New and his assistants are lying awake nights trying to devise ways to make the department live within the Congressional appropriation limits.

Early in March, a blanket order was sent to city postmasters to cut delivery expense to the limit The extent of these cuts was left to the discretion of postmasters.

As a result, many postmasters cut more deeply than discreetly A large percentage of them sought to retrench on parcel post deliveries.

In some towns, where two deliveries a day had been made, one delivery was ordered In New York, where six deliveries were cut to five, the operation was less painful.

But the immediate effect was a loud and nation-wide yelp on the part of the public. The reputation for good mail service, which Will Hays had built up, seemed to be forgotten.

Mail service curtailed—with the volume of business admittedly increasing! Why? Wherefore? What's the big idea? The public wanted to know.

Quick admonition was sent to postmasters that they were expected to use some judgment in effecting the curtailments.

Simultaneously, assurances were handed to the press, for distribution to the public, that service, not surplus, is the aim of the postal service and that the mails will be delivered—eventually if not now.

Meantime, with less than three months to go to the end of the fiscal year, a deficit of perhaps $40,000,000 is in sight! There seems no hope of holding it under $30,000,000 and it may reach $60,000,000

Total appropriations for the year are $573,763,766.50. This is an increase of about 4 per cent or some $28,000,000 over the expenditures for 1922, which Congress believed would allow for normal postal growth.

A check made on postal business for the nine months ending March 31, however, indicates an increase in the volume of business of 13.12 per cent, or about double the average annual increase for the past 40 years.

Wherefore, Secretary New is having his troubles. The more business, the more the expense and the greater deficit he must report.

For the postoffice department, unlike a business house, does not increase revenue. All earnings are turned into the United States treasury, and the service is called on to operate within the Congressional appropriation.

Still, postal deficits will be nothing new—no reflection on New. In fact, they're the regular thing. Burleson built up surpluses while postmaster general—and the bigger the surplus, the louder the public yelled for better service.

So, if New goes ahead on his latest "service not surplus" decision, he still may offset the effect of the March retrenchment order.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL ENDS TOMORROW

"Gideon and His Victory" Subject Tonight—Big Day Is Expected Sunday

"Gideon and His Victory" will be the sermon subject of Evangelist Joel Lee Jones at the Christian church revival tonight. There will be only three more services of the revival campaign and the evangelist and the Rev. A. B. Reeves, pastor, join in hoping that the last part of the meeting will be the most successful of all.

The Rev Jones has expressed himself as having enjoyed the meetings and says he is well pleased with the reception he has received in Middlesboro.

The service last night was brief but interesting. When it closed at 8 o'clock almost the entire congregation went to the high school auditorium and saw "Green Stocking," the Senior class play.

STATE ENGINEER HERE FOR STREETS

Checking Over City Engineer's Figures on East End Construction— Work May Begin Soon

E. E. Snyder, state highway engineer, is in Middlesboro to check over the city engineer's figures on the East End street construction work Mr Snyder has already begun the work but has spot yet made any report on it It is thought that the work will be finished within a few days.

The visit of the engineer in the interest of the long delayed East End work is very gratifying to people of Middlesboro who have long been waiting for the actual work there to begin. By sending the engineer here the commission indicates that it is interested in the work and that it will do its part toward having it done

The engineer will report the result of the check to the state commission and, should the specification be satisfactory, the actual construction work will begin as soon as the city has been notified, the council has taken the necessary formal action and the contract has been let.

STATE TRACK MEET STARTS

Twenty-one Teams With 165 Athletes Enter Tournament—Middlesboro Represented

By Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 4.—The annual interscholastic track and field meet was scheduled to start on Stroll Field this afternoon when the preliminaries for the various events were to be run off. The finals are scheduled to be run on Saturday afternoon in connection with a telegraphic meet the University of Kentucky freshmen have scheduled with the Georgia Tech and Florida yearlings.

Twenty one teams composed of 165 athletes were entered in the tournament and representatives from practically every section of the state were on hand for the starter's gun. The various teams running from one to twelve men to a team started coming in at noon Thursday.

Entertainment and lodging for the visiting athletes are to be provided by the university The men are lodged in the fraternity houses and in private homes Because of the large increase in entries over those of other years, the housing problem kept many workers busy busy obtaining rooms for the athletes The principal features in the entertainment are a banquet scheduled for tonight and an inspection of the campus tomorrow morning.

The schools sending teams and the number entered on each team are: Athens, 6; Augusta 2; Beren Academy, 12; Corbin, 12 Cynthiana, 4; Dry Ridge, 6; Frankfort, 12; Highlands, 9. Kentucky Military Institute, 12; La Grange, 8, Lexington, 12; Louisville Male High, 12; Louisville Du Pont Manual, 12; Marion, 5; Massie High of Lexington, 10. Middlesboro, 11; Morganfield, 1; Mt. Sterling, 12; Newport, 12; Stanford, 4; and Sturgis, 3.

Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, May 5.—For Kentucky: Mostly cloudy tonight; probably showers in southeastern portion Sunday. Generally fair with little change in temperature.

REGISTRATIONS FOR EXHIBIT ARE SLOW

Only Twelve Children Entered So Far —Few Register for Baby Parade Yet

Few registrations have been made of children for the pre-school examination which will be a feature of the health exhibit to be held here May 17-18-19. The registration consists merely in stating the child's age and name and its parents' names and address. Miss Edith Hart who is in charge of the registration will take this information over the phone. She stays at the office of Chas G. Smyth in the hospital building and the telephone number is 81, Cumberland.

Eleven children have already been registered their ages ranging from thirty months to six years. Their names follow: Joe Iovine, Mary Evelyn Ely, Archibald Rhea, Hambright, Evelyn Davis Ryan Singer, Norma Easton, Guy Iovine, Jennie Hampton, Dupont, Leah Easter, Louis Ely and Snook Easton

C. A. Blackburn, chairman of the committee for the baby parade, says that he is getting few responses for this, too. All children, from one month to six years in age, are eligible to this parade, with the buggies, carts, tricycles or any other kind of locomotion their mother wishes to exhibit. Miss Mary is especially anxious for a good showing in this parade and Mr. Blackburn urges all the mothers to consider entering it.

FORMER RESIDENT OKLAHOMA CITY OFFICER, KILLED THERE

John Sharp, formerly a resident of Middlesboro, was killed at Oklahoma City two days ago while in discharge of his duty as an officer, according to information received by friends here.

The deceased was a brother of Jim Sharp, a member of the police force here several years ago. He has a number of relatives over in Claiborne county and possible some more distant ones in Middlesboro. He is well known by many of the older residents of the city.

COLVIN ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR G. O. P. NOMINATION

Will Open Active Campaign Next Week at Ashland or Danville— Will not Resign as School Superintendent

DAWSON DELAYS ANNOUNCEMENT TILL NEXT FALL

By Associated Press

FRANKFORT, May 5—George Colvin who last night announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for Governor said today he would open his campaign next week either at Ashland or Danville. He said he would wage an active fight until the convention in June. He said that he would not resign as State Superintendent of public instruction and that the office would not suffer from his efforts to obtain the nomination.

Attorney-General Charles I. Dawson will not make his formal announcement for candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor until next week, according to information received here today. He had been in Louisville all this week but left there today for Lexington.

ALLISON LATEST CONTRIBUTOR TO ARCHAEOLOGICAL RESEARCH

Local archaeologists are increasing in number and the surviving discoverers of King Tut would do well to look to taking a firmer grip on their laurels. A few days ago a mound builders shoe-last was found and yesterday—well, the lastest unearthed relic does not date back to the paleolithic age, still it is something that would probably not readily be classified by modern scientists.

J. W. Allison is the latest local contributor to science. The ruin, still in a fair state of preservation, was found where he was doing some excavating on his place yesterday. The article no longer has any value except as a relic for it is an ancient bottle opener.

LIVELY INTER-CITY MEET REPORTED

Number of Kiwanians Go To Pineville From Here—J. M. Robsion Among Speakers

One of the liveliest and most interesting meetings in months was reported by Kiwanians from here who attended the Inter-City Kiwanis meeting in Pineville last night. There were about one hundred Kiwanians present, altogether, from Corbin, Barbourville, Harlan, Middlesboro and Pineville.

Will Ward Duffield, lieutenant governor for this section, presided at the meeting He spoke to some extent on the international convention to be held in Atlanta the last of the month and the district convention to be held in Middlesboro in August. A number of Kiwanians from this section intend to go to the international convention. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown in regard to the district convention and promises of support were made to Middlesboro by other clubs of this section.

Talks were made by Robert McNew of Harlan, I. O. Chitwood of Corbin, Jim Jarvis of Barbourville, A. P. Liebig of Middlesboro and Ed Samuels of Pineville, each representing his respective club. Congressman J. M. Robsion was a distinguished guest at the meeting and he gave a talk on Americanism.

NEW CITY AUTOMOBILE LICENSE TAGS RECEIVED

New city license plates for automobiles have been received at the city office and are now being issued to those paying their license fees The tags are about three inches in length, one inch wide and made of aluminum. Each bears a different number so that the city can keep an accurate check on owners who have paid their license fees.

A THOUGHT

Verily, verily I say unto thee, when thou wast young, thou girdest thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest; but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not.—St. John 21:18.

There is none so great but he may both need the help and service, and stand in fear of the power and unkindness, even of the meanest of mortals.—Seneca.

DAWSON OR COLVIN?

The stage at last seems set for formal announcements from the candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, and political circles throughout the state expect a formal statement, probably today, from George Colvin, superintendent of public instruction, and Charles I. Dawson, attorney-General, the two men most consistently mentioned for the nomination

Mr. Dawson has been, from the first of the season, frequently solicited to make his announcement. His supporters are drawn from the rank and file of the Republican party, the men now holding office in the state and most of the active Republican politicians. He is particularly popular in this section where he served so long and well as Commonwealth's attorney. Indeed, it was here that he was first mentioned as a possible candidate.

Mr. Colvin has been known as a candidate only in the last few weeks, particularly since Mayor Quin withdrew from the race. His supporters consist chiefly of a group in Louisville, and, it is also curious to note, the Democratic press of Louisville. These papers have always been avowedly Democratic, and it is a point of interest that they should advocate Colvin so strongly for the nomination when they undoubtedly will support a Democrat in the election.

Both Mr. Colvin and Mr. Dawson are splendid men and both have made exceptional records in public office. There is no doubt either of these men would make Kentucky a good governor. But the point most frequently brought up here is, could each of them be elected? Local party leaders say that Colvin could not be elected, and that the reason the Democrats are supporting him so staunchly is that they know he could not be elected. These same party leaders say that the mountain people want Dawson and only Dawson, and it is certain that the strength of the Republican party is in the mountains.

Do you know Baseball?
by Billy Evans

Questions

ONE—Can the pitcher get on the rubber without having the ball in his possession?

TWO—When a balk is called what are the rights of a base runner? Can a runner score from third?

THREE—When a fielder is making a play on a batted ball, who has the right of way, fielder or base runner?

FOUR—If a pitcher, with a runner on first, starts to deliver the ball to the batsman and it accidentally drops to the ground what is the proper ruling?

FIVE—Has a pitcher the right to snap the ball to any base without first stepping in the direction of that base?

Answers

ONE—The pitcher commits a balk when he gets on the rubber without having the ball in his possession.

TWO—All base runners have the right to advance one base when a balk is called. A runner on third most certainly has the right to score.

THREE—The fielder always has the right of way when making a play on a batted ball. The base runner must avoid a collision or be called out for so doing.

FOUR—The dropping of the ball constitutes a failure to deliver the ball to the batsman and must be regarded as a balk, even though it was accidental. Runner first advances to second.

FIVE—A pitcher has no right to snap the ball to any base unless he steps directly toward such base in the act of making such throws.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The army hasn't declared war on the navy, but a smouldering jealousy on the part of Secretary of War Weeks filled the corridors of the War Department building with the acrid fumes of poison gas the week before the U. S. S. Grant carrying Weeks and congressional guests, sailed for Alaska. As the explanation goes, it was all about a little matter of publicity.

When Secretary of Navy Denby recently chaaperoned an official junket to Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico, all the press associations and many of the larger newspapers petitioned for space for staff correspondents. They saw news in the Denby trip, which included war maneuvers in the Carribbean. About a score of correspondents and cameramen went along.

For the Weeks junket, however, not a press service or newspaper sought space for a staff man. Some gave credentials to other persons who wished to make the trip, to protect them in event of anything big happening, but aside from some accident or event of spot news interest in seemed to be agreed the news in the Weeks trip would be small potatoes and not worth the cost. Anyway, the time to send staff men to Alaska would be with the presidential party, later.

Whereupon, 'tis whispered, Weeks declared that if the services and papers didn't think enough of his junket to send regular staff men, he wouldn't take their specially accredited men.

Finally it was arranged that Weeks' secretary, John Martyn, should broadcast to the world, by army radio, any "big" news developing on the trip. Anybody who wants to listen in, press associations, newspaper or private individual, can get it

Aunt Alice Robertson is finding the political pie-counter a much more difficult place to serve than the real pie-counter she used to run in her restaurant down in Muskogee, Okla., before she was elected to Congress in 1920.

Recognizing Aunt Alice's claims as a G. O. P. lame duck, President Harding the other day designated her as a sort of official "mother" to the girls employed in the Veterans' Bureau. She will have charge of welfare activities and otherwise thy to see that the girls are properly cared for.

And now American Legion men are rising up and asking Harding where he gets that "mother" stuff about aunt Alice.

They point out that, although 69 years of age, she is still MISS Alice Rebertson; that never having been a real mother she cannot now acquire either the wisdom or understanding for assumed motherhood, and that she was a bitter and active opponent in Congress to the veterans' demands for adjusted compensation.

By contrast, they urge a proper selection for the post would have been from among the Gold Star Mothers who sacrificed sons in the war.

The proposal by the Fine Arts Commission that the statue of Andy Jackson, in LaFollette Square, fronting the White House, be removed to make way for another statue of the Immortal George has sent all loyal Jacksonian Democrats into a frenzy.

"Sacrilege!" they shout.

However, all politics aside, there may be something to be said on the side of the Fine Arts Commission.

Said statue of Andy is perhaps the weirdest piece of statuary to be found in the capital city. It is good for a smile any day.

It shows Old Hickory, seated on a prancing charger, doffing his hat in the direction of the Cosmos Club. The horse, neck arched, tail and mane flowing in the breeze, champing his bronze bit, is cutting more didoes than any steed ever straddled by William F. Cody. But old Andy, seated at an angle which would have caused any cowboy to come a cropper over the crupper—being cast in the same bronze—maintans his seat with east.

Still, on thinking it over, maybe it would be best to keep the statue right where it is. Nothing we can think of illustrates so forcefully how America has progressed in art.

AN INTIMATE STORY OF INNERMOST EMOTIONS REVEALED IN PRIVATE LETTERS
Copyright 1923 -NEA Service Inc

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER YOUNGER SISTER, ALICE HAMILTON

DEAR LITTLE SISTER:

I have just had a letter from Vera Stokley. You know she started for London a day or two after my wedding to join her family.

She tells me that your little friend Betty is writing a book and that it has the weirdest plot which involves a string of pearls. I have an intuition that you two girls have in some way patched up a story about my pearl beads.

You seemed rather surreptitious and mysterious about them when you gave them to me. Now that I have had time to think over them I have become rather curious about them.

Everyone admires them so much. Jack said the other day that they were the loveliest imitations he had ever seen. He makes me wear them on all occasions.

I wor them the other night to a restaurant dinner and a man at the next table eyed me so much that Jack told me he was going over to punch his head until I called his attention to the fact that the man was not looking at me at all but at my beads.

"That makes it worse," said Jack, and I think he would have gone over and jabbed him if the man had not paid his check and left.

Write me all about the circumstances of their purchase. I am sure they were not originally purchased in this country. Jack says they were probably made to imitate a string of real pearls whose owner did not want always to wear her real stones. He says they would be worth a fortune if they were real.

Tell me about your friend Betty Stockley's book. I'll bet you had a hand in it, you sly puss.

All the wedding presents came yesterday, including that lovely desk that Jack's mother gave me. Fortunately I had just signed the lease of the duckiest little appartment, and I had all the boxes and barrels delivered there.

Jack is very busy just now as the company has many new contracts on its book, so I am not going to let him see the apartment at all until it is all furnished and ready for us to move in.

As soon as your school is out I want you to come and make us a long visit, little sister.

Tell mother everything came splendidly and that my hand is almost well.

I will write her very soon.

Lots of love, dear.

LESLIE.

Letter from Leslie Prescott, to her Mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott.

DEAR MRS. PRESCOTT:

I cannot resist writing you to tell you again how beautiful your lovely desk is that you gave me for a wedding present.

I have made it the one thing in my living room around which I have centered everything.

Jack tells me you wrote him about my hand. Do not worry any more. It is all well now.

I hope you will find it convenient to come and see us very soon and then you will see how beautifully your exquisite desk helps to furnish our little appartment. Cordially yours,

LESLIE HAMILTON PRESCOTT.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

HOPES

By Berton Braley

When I leave home to wander
About the world a space,
To see what's "over yonder"
In some far-distant place,
I hope, when I have started,
Wherever I may flit,
Friends won't be heavy hearted—
Not a bit.

I trust they will not worry
When we are out of touch
Nor get in any flurry
If I don't write them much.
I hope they'll do without me
And shed no tears at home,
Nor greatly fret about me—
As I roam.

I shall not feel resentful
If comrades still are gay
Amid their lives eventful,
While I am gone away;
But still, I cannot stifle
The hope, friends, countrymen,
You'll miss me—just a trifle—
Now and then.

ADVENT OF CIRCUS BIG AFFAIR IN SMALL TOWN

The sun peeps over the eastern hills in a blaze of glory. The world awakens and start sanother busy day. The small boy hies him from his bed and hurries from home while the dew is still left on the grass. The country folks arise before the dawn and hurry through their chores, don their Sunday clothes and start for town, where all about is an air of waiting expectancy and gathering crowds in holiday attire. The anxiously awaited event has come at last.

With the coming of dawn the show trains pulls into town and at once commences a scene of hustle and hurry. Orders sharply given and quickly obeyed by a vast throng of workers who help to unload the trains. Even the elephants are called into service.

On the show grounds the same hurry is going on. Acres of canvas cover the ground, stakes are being driven, the big tent pulled into place and in the twinkling of an eye the large pavilions are raised, while over all many bright colored banners float in the soft morning breeze.

This is the daily experience of a big show requiring the most careful generalship to accomplish the seemingly impossible feat of getting ready for the afternoon performance, and such are the scenes to be witnessed at Middlesboro.

The Cooper Bros.' Shows will arrive for two performances on Wednesday, May 9.

A complete delicatessen line at The Little Homestead, 19th and Cumberland. Mrs. A. W. Altman, prop.

If the property insured under this policy burns---

Would the amount of insurance you are now carrying reimburse you for the loss?

If your property is worth insuring at all, it is all worth insuring, and it should be insured against every contingency that might result in loss.

The man who insures his house and not the furniture in it, accepts part of the loss himself in the event of disaster. He accepts a condition that is dangerous and economically unsound.

Read your policy and consult us if any part of it is not clear to you. Make sure that all your property is properly insured.

If in doubt concerning any insurance question, have no hesitation in calling on this agency. We are in a position to give real, constructive service.

Who Gets Your Pay Check?

Are you using it to buy the things you want and need—and to provide for the future? Or do you fritter away a good part in passing pleasures?

The answer to this question is a determining factor in your success, for someone is putting a part of your pay away as a Key to Opportunity and a step to independence. Is it you or someone else?

Each payday put part of your check in a Savings Account in this strong Bank. Then the money which you earn will earn for YOU.

PARABLE OF THE ORCHARD

Keen fragrance clouds above the world
The orchard trees are flowering;
Billowing light of snow and flame
Hill after hill is touched with spring.

What is more beautiful than this:
Walk on the soft earth through the shade
Of delicate boughs that break the sun
To patterns exquisitely laid.

Shatter a branch and feel its wood
Fall like a blossom on your heart;
The wet cold dew is hot upon lips,
The white depths, for your arms to part.

Ah, hide your shoulders there where light
Explains the year's bewildering;
Shake foam from rigid boughs while soon,
On brittle stems, hard fruit shall swing.

—George O'Neil, in The March Lyric.

Woman's Auxiliary Meeting Monday

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will meet at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the church, following a meeting of the auxiliary executive board at 2:30 p. m. At this time reports will be given by the delegates who attended the presbyterial meeting at Chattanooga. A special program will be given on the educational needs of Mexican girls and a collection will be taken toward the establishment of a school for Mexican girls in Texas. Every member is urged to attend this meeting Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. S. Anderson is president of the auxiliary.

Hear the story of "Two Bears" at the opening hour of Christian Sunday School.

SURPRISE POTATOES

When potatoes are old they need more careful cooking to make them tasty. These surprise croquettes are always enjoyed:

Prepare two cups of mashed potatoes, one egg yolk and one-half cup of creamed peas, chicken or any bits of vegetables or meat left over.

Add the egg yolk to the mashed potatoes, being sure that the potatoes are very well seasoned. To a large spoonful, hollowed in the center, add a little of the creamed vegetable or meat. Carefully work the potato over the filling, being sure that it is completely covered. Shape into cylinder form, dip into beaten white of egg to which two tablespoons of milk have been added, roll in fine bread crumbs and fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Or these may be dipped in egg and then into buttered crumbs and baked in a hot oven.

Your Eyes Reveal Your Inner Self Says Madame Rubinstein

Trying to catalog Mary Pickford's beauty is like trying to catch sunlight on the wall. It's there and everyone can see it, and that's all there is to it. It shines forth just as radiantly when Mary is dressed in rags as when she is wearing a Paris creation. She typifies the simplicity that is harder to attain than the most sophisticated art.

More than any other feature, the eyes reveal the inner emotions and the real character of the individual.

Meanness, envy, jealousy and unkind thoughts all leave their devastating record on the face as well as the personality, and ruin the most lovely eyes; while love, unselfishness, enthusiasm and good will spiritualize the most ordinary pair.

One may not, of course, change the color of the eyes, but one can keep them clear and sparkling with good health and keep the area about them firm and unwrinkled and the brows and lashes luxuriant and well shaped.

Here is a simple system of massage and exercise that will counteract wrinkles and crow's feet and restore brilliancy.

Without moving the head, cast a fixed determined look to the right, then to the left, then upward and down, then without moving the head look around you endeavoring to describe a circle. Each of these movements should be made from 10 to 20 times.

Beginning at the outer end of the eyebrows, with thumb and fingers perpendicular to the lines of wrinkles take up small rolls of tissue between your fingers and knead or roll them, proceeding in a slanting direction toward the ears. Grip the tissues well and knead deeply down to the bone but use no force and bear in mind the delicacy of the tissues worked on.

The movement should be more of pressure downward than pinching. One minute is enough to devote to this exercise.

Then with the right hand draw the skin over the eyebrow tightly toward the middle of the forehead. Beginning from the upper end of the ear, stroke that part with the fingers of the other hand to and fro in a semi-circle. The movement should be one of pressing downward rather than pulling the tissues. One minute is enough for this.

Then, sitting with elbows propped up, perform with the middle finger a light and quick-tapping motion over the temple region.

Bathe the eyes daily with a solution of boracic acid or special eye lotion. After powdering brush the eyelashes and brows with a tiny eyebrow brush. If they are thin and uneven anoint nightly with vaseline or olive oil.

"What Church Shall I Join?" Rev. Jones will tell you Sunday night at the Christian Church.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Kentucky Children's Home Society advertises the following facts: It is the ward of a minor child of female sex and about two (2) years of age, named or called Lucille Rodeman, and committed to it by order and judgment of the Bell county court entered at Pineville, Kentucky, on the 4th day of May, 1921; and that it will, in conformity with said Section 2072 as amended, proceed in due course to seek and consummate the adoption of said child by a foster-parent or foster-parents and will proceed to give its consent to such adoption.

GEORGE SEHON,
Superintendent Kentucky Children's Home Society.

Mrs. Mary Elliott Flanery

I have decided to seek the Democratic nomination for the office of Secretary of State. I have never held but one political office—that of Representative in the General Assembly from the County of Boyd. The good people of that county nominated and elected me to that office on the Democratic ticket, although the county is overwhelmingly Republican. My experience in that office brought me in contact with the affairs of the State Government and I feel that that experience has added to my qualifications in this regard and that I am fitted to handle the affairs of the office of Secretary of State.

Politically, I am a Democrat. My grandfather, John Lisle Elliott, who served the State as Senator, and my uncle, John Milton Elliott, who served as a member of both the Federal and Confederate Congresses, as well as Judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, were Democrats. Hence, by choice and birth, I am a Democrat.

In announcing for this office I appeal to the men and women alike. Proffers of support have been most generous from both classes. They have said that I can strengthen the party ticket and that it is good policy to have at least one woman on the ticket.

Believing that I may be of service to the party, I submit my claims on my merits, running my own race, free from alliances and will cheerfully abide the result at the hands of my party.

MRS. MARY ELLIOTT FLANERY.

SAVED SICK SPELLS

Black-Draught Found Valuable by a Texas Farmer, Who Has Known Its Usefulness Over 30 Years.

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out from here on Route 3.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs.

Be sure to get the genuine, Thedford's.

TOMORROW GO TO S. S. DAY IN STATE

Effort to Have Big Attendance At All Local Sunday Schools For Day

Individual and organized effort will be made to have a large attendance at all local Sunday schools tomorrow which has been designated as state "Go To Sunday School Day". Middlesboro Sunday schools have joined in the campaign and have placed a large canvas sign over Cumberland avenue at the place rendered famous by "Boom," urging a large attendance next Sunday.

Some of the Sunday schools are having circulars distributed and are using other means of advertising in an attempt to make the campaign impelling to the public. Those who do not attend any Sunday school will be especially urged to attend Sunday. No efforts will be made by any Sunday school to draw attendance from any of the others.

Local superintendents hope to swell greatly the attendance Sunday. It is said that there hundreds of men, women and children in Middlesboro who never attend Sunday school and it is thought that if some of these can be induced to attend Sunday they will become regular attendants.

Bring the Children to the Christian Sunday School tomorrow to hear the story of "Two Bears."

ELABORATE PLANS FOR M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH, RECEPTION

Elaborate preparations will be made for the reception of a large number of guests at Kentenva Hall Thursday evening when the Rev. and Mrs. W. K McClure, after twenty-two years of happy married life, will again be united in matrimony. All members of the church and their friends are cordially invited to be present at this Twenty-second Anniversary reception. The Rev. W. D. Farmer of Cumberland Gap will perform the ceremony. The reception is from 7 to 11 p. m. A receiving line will welcome guests during this time.

EWING BOY AND GIRL WIN IN FIELD DAY EXERCISES

EWING, Va., May 5.—Miss Celia Warren Shifley and Jim Richmond of Ewing, representing L. C. L. in the Grammar Grade Girls' and Boys' contest, were winners in the Field Day exercises held in Jonesville last night. Representatives from all the schools in Lee county were eligible for these contests. Miss Shifley gave the recitation, "How Mose Counted the Eggs" and Richmond, "The Trials of the Twins." The former is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shifley and the latter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. T. Richmond.
